

Across a Love Locked Bridge

Paul Sellar

Audience reviews

Kimi Sugioka, 2nd September 2024

Paul Sellar's poetry show is a beautiful account of his life in stages. He captured events and luminous moments of insight into common and pivotal experiences that poignantly resonated with the me and the whole audience. It can be difficult to listen to a poet for an hour but Mr. Sellar left us eager to hear every word.

Amanda M, 27th August 2024

Gentle and reflective, relaxed poetry reading. Nicely written and lovely through lines.

Sue Cunningham, 26th August 2024

I went to this show without any preconceived expectations. It consisted of a series of poems that gently unfolded using beautifully constructed descriptive language that grew into a strongly emotional story that completely consumed and enthralled me, leaving me silently weeping by the end. I was deeply moved and only realised when it ended that all of the audience had also been profoundly moved. I thoroughly recommend everyone to go to experience this show. It has spawned a new interest in both the author and poetry that I didn't have before!

Sean Davis, 25th August 2024

The playwright reads his beautiful, evocative poems from four phases of his life. His introduction to each phase provided the background that made some of the poems even more wonderful. Since he doesn't have a book of the poems available, I cannot cite lines for examples.

Amr El Refaie, 23rd August 2024

Beautiful, sensitive and thoughtful moments from the life of the author, told in lyrical poetic display. Very moving and honest. I loved it and it is highly recommended.

Sylvie, 21st August 2024

I liked this show very much, I liked the pace of it, the way it is built to move from childhood to adult loss and grief. Very moving and extremely well delivered.

Laurence Whitaker, 16th August 2024

My first 5* show of the Fringe. A lyrical, poignant collection of poems taking us from the hope and zeal of youth through to the acceptance of memory amidst grief. Mesmerising.

Dave H, 8th August 2024

An understated but lyrical show, a story told through poetry. I have thought about the poem 'Petersfield' a lot since hearing it. The perfect start to a day at the Fringe.